The deeper remembrance becomes,

the more simultaneous reality appears.

Language matters.
Profoundly.

Words can be lived.

But the language that follows
is an aperture of attending,
not an ontology
reality must obey.